What do you hope to contribute as a mentor?

I hope to encourage students in their faith, career, and personal growth by sharing practical guidance from my own experiences. I'm happy to help with networking, job searching, résumés, cover letters, professional writing, and connecting students with opportunities through the OU community.

What special experiences do you have to contribute?

As a recent graduate, I understand the unique challenges of grad school and transitioning into the workforce. I bring experience in writing, editing, higher education, career preparation, networking, and professional communications, along with strong connections throughout the OU community.

PROFESSIONAL BIO

Diana Gedye is a communications professional with experience in writing, editing, publishing, and higher education. Throughout her career, she has worked alongside students, faculty, and academic departments, developing expertise in professional writing, career preparation, networking, and higher education. She also has experience supporting computer science programs and enjoys helping students explore emerging technologies, including artificial intelligence.

Diana was raised in a Christian home and came to genuine faith in Christ while pursuing her master's degree. That experience gave her a unique understanding of the spiritual questions and opportunities that often arise during graduate school. Today, she is passionate about encouraging graduate students as they grow academically, professionally, and spiritually. Whether you're seeking guidance with career development, résumés, networking, graduate life, or your walk with Christ, Diana is committed to providing practical wisdom, thoughtful encouragement, and Christ-centered support as you pursue your calling.
