KENNY SCHRAMKO

Kenny Schramko is a retired petroleum engineer, Bible teacher, and mentor who is passionate about helping graduate students navigate life's challenges while exploring the truth of the Christian faith.

Location:

Indiana, Pennsylvania

Mentoring Strengths:

- Time Management
- Stress or Anxiety Management
- Work-Life Balance
- Faith and Spiritual Growth
- Professional Development

What do you hope to contribute as a mentor?

I like helping people

What special experiences do you have to contribute?

Someone with doubts about Christianity or who is searching for spiritual truth.

PROFESSIONAL BIO

Kenny Schramko spent his career as a petroleum engineer before retiring after decades in the oil and gas industry. Throughout his professional journey, he learned firsthand the importance of perseverance, balance, and lifelong learning. Today, he enjoys investing in others through Bible teaching, mentoring, and apologetics, leading men's Bible studies and helping people thoughtfully engage questions about Christianity and the reliability of Scripture.

Originally a skeptic himself, Kenny's faith was shaped through years of studying the Bible, first-century history, and the historical evidence for Jesus. That journey has given him a special passion for walking alongside those who have questions, doubts, or a desire to better understand the Christian faith. Whether you're navigating the pressures of graduate school, seeking greater balance, or exploring how faith intersects with your academic and professional life, Kenny is committed to providing thoughtful encouragement, practical wisdom, and a listening ear.

UNIVERSITIES ATTENDED

Pennsylvania State University
B.S. Petroleum Engineering

University of Miami
Undergraduate Studies

CURRENT OCCUPATION

Retired Petroleum Engineer