PROFESSIONAL BIO

Jonathan Hallsted is a healthcare executive, nonprofit leader, and international missions advocate with more than 13 years of experience leading the business and operational side of private healthcare practices. He and his wife, Becca, spent six years serving alongside medical professionals in Eastern Europe, an experience that shaped his passion for integrating faith, work, and healthcare in practical and sustainable ways.

Today, Jonathan leads Healthbridge Global and brings experience in international healthcare development, nonprofit leadership, fundraising, and healthcare management. As a speaker, he challenges students and professionals to see their careers not simply as work, but as opportunities to live out their faith and calling wherever God has placed them.
