

Unclaimed Firearms Policy

Updated: April 17, 2026

1. Scope

This policy addresses Gun Control Act firearms (pistols, revolvers, rifles, shotguns, receivers, and frames) deposited with Calibers, LLC, referred to below as "This Business," located at 4340 Cutler Ave NE and 9320 Coors Blvd NW, Albuquerque, New Mexico, a Type 07 Federal Firearms Licensed Dealer.

In normal business operations, firearms arrive at This Business in one of two ways:

- Delivered by common carrier, including the United States Postal Service (USPS), United Parcel Service (UPS), Federal Express (FedEx), or other carriers.
- Personally brought in by customers for consultation and/or left for service, repair, or restoration.

Occasionally, a firearm delivered to or left with This Business is never claimed or is abandoned by its owner.

2. Unclaimed Firearms & Storage Charges

Firearms that remain unclaimed for 180 days after the initial notification that they are available for collection will be charged a $2.00-per-day storage premium, retroactive to the original notification. The following actions will then be taken in order:

2.1 Email notices. Two attempts will be made to contact the customer by email, notifying them that the firearm is ready for pickup. If no response is received within seven days of the first email, a second email will be sent.

2.2 Certified letter. If the second email goes unanswered, a certified letter will be sent notifying the customer of the action required to collect the firearm. The customer must collect the firearm within seven days of receiving the letter. Otherwise, the proprietor will declare the firearm ABANDONED BY OWNER, and the abandonment will be noted in the FFL Acquisition & Disposition Log for each affected firearm.

Disposition of Abandoned Firearms

3. Disposal Methods

Firearms deemed ABANDONED BY OWNER will be disposed of in one of the following ways:

3.1 Return to the original shipper. This applies only to firearms purchased online by a customer who designated This Business as the receiving licensed agent for an interstate Federal Firearms License (FFL) transfer. If the original shipper agrees to accept the firearm, any shipping costs will be recorded in accounts receivable as costs in arrears, identified by the intended recipient's name and the firearm's make, model, and serial number.

3.2 Sale. If the original shipper will not accept a return, the firearm will be sold by the most expedient method available.

3.3 Sale of parts. The firearm may be disassembled into individual parts, and those parts sold.

3.4 Destruction or disposal. If a complete firearm or parts declared abandoned cannot be sold within one year, parts that do not require destruction will be disposed of or recycled.

Receivers and frames, with or without serial numbers, will be destroyed in accordance with U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (BATFE) firearm destruction standards.

4. Final Recordkeeping

Once final disposition of an abandoned firearm occurs, the method of disposition will be noted in the FFL Acquisition & Disposition Log, and the firearm will be logged as DISPOSED.
