Dr Nick Coatsworth

ABOUT

Dr Nick Coatsworth has an unrivalled breadth of experience in the delivery of healthcare to Australians, and has now taken on the role of Nine Network's Medical Expert. In 2024 Nick was co-host and creator of a four part science documentary exploring the prospect of living forever, titled 'Do You Want To Live Forever', co-hosted with Tracy Grimshaw.

Nick is a regular fill-in host on the Today Show, and Weekend Today.

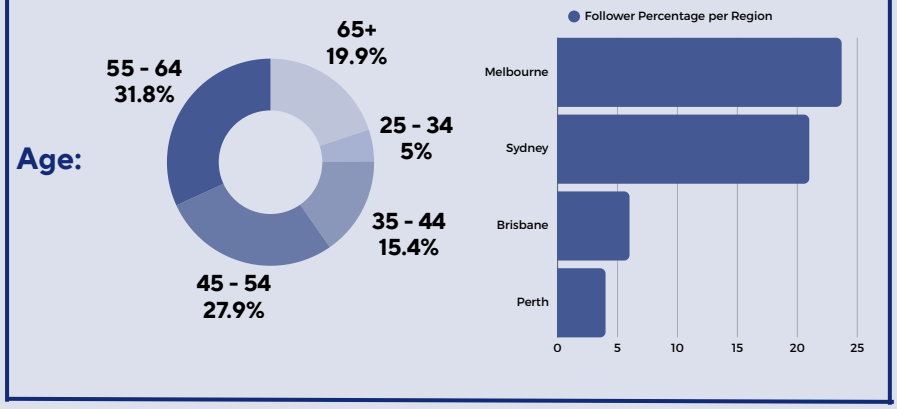

Most recognisable as the spearhead of Australia's COVID-19 advertising campaign, Dr Nick Coatsworth has been a trusted voice, providing clear and evidence-based information to help guide public health policies and individual behaviour. His expertise and communication skills made him a key figure in Australia's response to the pandemic.

In 2022, Dr Nick was honoured by the Universiry of Western Australia, his alma mater, with an Honorary Doctorate for services to medicine.

Nick enjoys sharing his experiences with a variety of audiences as an entertaining and thought provoking public speaker.
