Chancellor's Message to Families

NYC Public Schools
Chancellor Melissa Aviles-Ramos

Looking Back on a Transformative Year

Dear Families,

When I was a teacher, principal, and district leader, I always took time at the end of the school year to reflect—both on what we had accomplished and what lay ahead. Now, as Chancellor, I am eager to do the same. It's been an honor to lead this incredible community of students, staff, and families, and I'm glad that we have much to celebrate as we wrap up the 2024-2025 school year.

This year, we continued transforming literacy and math instruction across our city through NYC Reads and NYC Solves. We're providing unprecedented levels of coaching and training for our educators, who are doing the critical work to ensure all students, including our students with disabilities and multilingual learners, are getting high-quality, rigorous, engaging instruction every day.

We also expanded Student Pathways, adding more schools and career pathways to our signature FutureReadyNYC program. Over 15,000 students participated in FutureReadyNYC this year, and in the past two years, our students have earned over $18 million through work-based learning!

In addition, we launched NYCPS Cares, a new initiative to support both the whole child and the whole family. As part of this work, we are training over 1,000 Family Connectors to serve as trusted messengers in their communities and to connect parents and guardians to city resources. And that's just the beginning—for a full recap of accomplishments, visit our website at schools.nyc.gov/24-25YearInReview.

We also have plenty of work ahead. Starting this fall, NYC Reads and NYC Solves will expand to 186 additional schools, with NYC Reads launching in middle schools for the first time. FutureReadyNYC will grow to serve another 50 schools, and we'll open seven new schools, including the Northwell School of Health Sciences and HBCU Early College Prep.

We're also funding the hiring of 3,700 additional teachers to create smaller class sizes; expanding and strengthening 3-K and Pre-K, including for students with disabilities; growing our innovative specialized programs for autistic students; continuing to welcome our newest New Yorkers with open arms; and much more.

Families, thank you for choosing NYC Public Schools. We value your partnership immensely. I also want to thank our family and community volunteers and leaders, including our Community and Citywide Education Councils, Chancellor's Parent Advisory Council, Parent Teacher Associations/Parent Associations, School Leadership Teams/District Leadership Teams, Title I Parent Advisory Councils, NYC Reads Ambassadors, and Family Connectors.

While the school year is ending, the work continues. I'm proud of the school year we've had and excited for what the next one will bring. I hope you are, too.

In partnership,

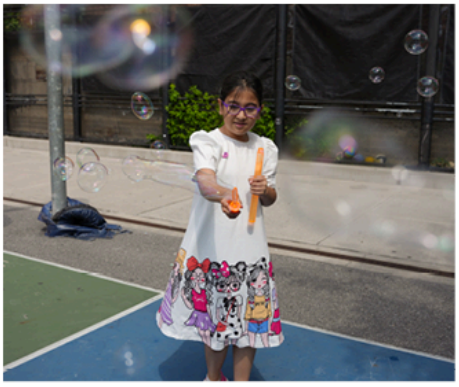

Melissa Aviles-Ramos, Chancellor

Chancellor's Four Pillars

The Four Pillars of Building Trust with Families:

1. Reimagining the student experience -

- Career Pathways Initiative —creating career-connected learning and pathways for all our students to help activate their passion and sense of purpose.

- Ensuring that all students graduate with a strong plan and head start on a pathway to the middle class, including financial literacy and civics skills.

- Supporting our children to become strong readers.

- Making sure every single one of our students is getting strong, phonics-based literacy instruction from the very start.

- Building on the universal screening tools that identify risk for dyslexia to tailor more effective responses at the earliest possible ages, strengthening early childhood education.

- Creating an Advisory Council on Literacy.

- Virtual learning -expanding virtual options for students.

2. Scaling, sustaining, and restoring what works -

- Identifying the amazing practices throughout our system and sharing via state-of-the-art knowledge-sharing system so that they become models that other schools can try to emulate.

3. Expanding opportunities for accelerated learning in every school. Prioritizing wellness and its link to student success -

- Working with the Mayor's office to increase the number of School Safety Agents.

- Collaborating with community-based partners to support school safety, mental health, attendance, and enrichment. Extending learning beyond the four walls of the classroom to feed the souls of our children with visits to museums, parks, and activities in the great outdoors.

- Increasing our schools' capacity to provide quality mindfulness practices that are scientifically researched, evidence-based, and culturally responsive

4. Engaging families to be our true partners -

Superintendent's Letter to Families

Dear Queens South High School Families,

As we begin a brand-new school year, I want to warmly welcome you back and share my excitement about all that we will accomplish together. This year, our theme is "Elevate and Accelerate to Transform." At Queens South High Schools, we believe every student is a seed of excellence, and it's our shared responsibility to nurture their growth.
Here are some of the priorities we'll be focusing on this year to help your child thrive:

- Great Teaching and Learning
  We're investing in our teachers so they feel supported and inspired. When teachers grow, students grow—and that's what matters most.

- Safety and Well-Being
  Your child's safety—both physical and emotional—is our top priority. We are committed to creating schools where every student feels safe, valued, and cared for.

- Support for Every Student
  Every child learns differently. Through strong support systems, we'll provide the right help at the right time so all students can succeed, including our English Language Learners and students with disabilities.

- Preparing for the Future
  From building strong academic skills to introducing tools like artificial intelligence, we're preparing students for a world that is changing quickly. We want them to leave our schools confident and ready for what's ahead.

- Innovation and Creativity
  We're re-imagining learning spaces and finding new ways to engage students so that school feels exciting and meaningful.

- Partnership and Collaboration
  Families are essential partners in this work. We want to hear your voices, celebrate your contributions, and build schools where everyone—students, staff, and families—feels part of one community.

- Emotional Growth
  We know success is more than grades. Helping students grow into kind, empathetic, and resilient young people is at the heart of our mission.

Together, we will make this a transformative year for our students. Thank you for trusting us with your children and for being such an important part of our community. Wishing you and your family a wonderful start to the school year!

Sincerely,
Dr. Josephine Yeboah Van-Ess
Superintendent of Queens South High Schools

QSHS Vision

Nurturing schools, families, and communities in fostering affirming environments of empowerment, engagement, and infinite possibilities for students to explore, achieve, and succeed.

QSHS Mission

|---|---|
| S | Sparking Innovation- Preparing our students to think critically and leave our schools motivated and able to contribute to legacies of positive change. |
| E | Elevating Equity, Diversity, and Access- Providing social-emotional supports and learning experiences that uplift, celebrate, and cultivate diversity and bridge the disparities that exist within our educational system. |
| E | Ensuring Accelerated Learning—Developing leadership capacity to ensure that schools are using data-informed methodologies to provide rigorous instruction grounded in literacy development, civic engagement, STEAM, CRSE, SEL, and post-secondary readiness, and that learning is transferable to college and career aspirations. |
| D | Developing Student Self-Efficacy- Nurturing students' voice, agency, healthy sense of self, confidence, mindset, and belief in their capacity to accomplish their goals. |
| S | Strategically Engaging Families and Partners- Galvanizing families, community leaders, and partnerships to work collaboratively in using their voice, role, and capacity to contribute to the system, structures, and practices that will help to meet the needs of all students. |

District Priorities and Goals

CEP Development and Progress Monitoring - QSHS will collaborate with school leaders and partners in authentically using the CEP as the core school improvement plan for progress monitoring; developing goals centered on the instructional core, Multi-Tiered Systems of Support (MTSS), safety and SEL structures, to improve academic outcomes and attendance.

Data-Aligned Professional Learning - QSHS will collaborate with school leaders and partners to create and scale professional learning opportunities that are data-informed to support the capacity building of leaders, co-leaders, teachers, and school community constituents to increase participant engagement and improve academic outcomes, such as regents' performance, and improve leadership and pedagogical practices as evidenced by MPPR and Danielson observations.

QSHS Post-Secondary Plans of Action - QSHS will collaborate with school leaders and partners to create fully articulated school and student annual career/post-secondary plans that incorporate CDOS for students in grades 6-12. Additionally, QSHS, school leaders and partners will create an Employability Profile for students in grades 9-12, that ensures exposure and readiness for each student at each grade to improve college and career readiness metrics.

Instruction, Curriculum, Course, and Program Audit - QSHS will collaborate with school leaders and partners to reimagine the student experience by engaging in an assessment of the state of instruction, curricular resources, enrichment, programs, and courses offered to ensure teaching and learning is grounded in literacy development, SEL, CRSE, differentiated support for all students in order to improve academic outcomes, such as regents performance, CCRI, and increase attendance and enrollment.

Family, Partner, and Community Engagement - QSHS will collaborate with school leaders, will partner with families, consultants and leverage our community leaders in using their voice and expertise to co-create the systems and structures that will ensure sustainable collaboration and a safe and high-quality learning experience for students.

Healthy Communities of Support, Safety, and Care - QSHS, in collaboration with the school leaders and partners will develop systemic approaches to address violence, poverty and trauma by engaging in radical candor conversations and ensuring appropriate social services and supports are in place for students and families to increase attendance, engagement and affirming school environments.

Let's Get Social - QSHS, in collaboration with the school leaders and partners, will use social media as a "digital portfolio," to highlight the work of our schools and to offer opportunities for engagement to shift perspectives and increase enrollment.
