There Is a Seat for Me

The curtains were opening in Kernel's magical movie theater. Kernel stood beside Marquee, the magical movie screen. Pip waited a little farther back, where it was easier to watch.

"Pip! Come right up here," called Kernel, waving his cotton candy high. "I saved the biggest hello for you!" "Could I have a smaller hello?" asked Pip.

Kernel paused. His biggest hello was already halfway out. He tucked it away for another time. “A smaller hello. I can do that,” said Kernel softly. “Hello, Pip.” “Hello,” said Pip.
